PCIA APPLAUDS LAUNCH OF THE NEW ENGLAND WIRELESS ASSOCIATION

(BOSTON, MA - NOVEMBER 8, 2006) – The New England Wireless Association (NEWA) held its kickoff event, forming the eleventh state wireless association. Jeff Previte, EBI Consulting, serves as the President of NEWA. The launch featured keynote speaker Michael Fitch, President & CEO, PCIA.

“PCIA is proud to support the State Wireless Association Program,” said PCIA President & CEO Michael Fitch in his remarks. “We at PCIA understand how much work goes into setting up a new state wireless association, and we want to congratulate all of your officers and your attendees today. Based on the experience in other states, you can look forward to a lot of work, a lot of fun, and accomplishing a great deal—personally, for charity, for your companies, and for the industry.”

The New England Wireless Association launch featured over 180 attendees. It is currently the largest regional association, representing Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine, Connecticut, Vermont, and New Hampshire. For more information on the NEWA please Jeff Previte at jprevite@ebiconsulting.com. For more information about the State Wireless Associations Program please visit www.swaprogram.net.

About PCIA: PCIA – the Wireless Infrastructure Association, is the principal trade association representing the companies that make up the wireless telecommunications and broadcast infrastructure industry. PCIA’s members own and manage more than 65,000 telecommunications towers and antenna facilities that support analog, digital and broadcast services across the country.
